NLSP SHOWCASES FICTION, POETRY & ART

Publishes a FREE eBook to promote great talent

New Lit Salon Press is proud to announce Salon Style, a collection of writers, poets, and artists with unique voices and incredible vision in diverse genres such as Gothic/Horror, Sci-Fi, Women's Lit, and Americana. Salon Style features stories by emerging writers M.P. Diederich, Dan Ress, Casey Ellis (Startling Sci-Fi: New Tales of the Beyond), Jack Bates, Lucy Black, and established writers John Rodzvilla, John Vicary, Stefanie Freele, and P.J. Schaefer (Behind the Yellow Wallpaper: New Tales of Madness). It includes works by notable poets Michele Seminara, Raymond Drew, and Mike Alger. Salon Style also features art by NLSP veterans Nathan Mark Phillips (Southern Gothic: New Tales of the South) and Michael Tice (Retrospective).

Illustrations by Carrion House, photography by Jessica Hoard, and drawings by Sarah-Jean Krahn complete this varied collection. This eBook edition will be available for free first for Kindle in the fall of 2014. It will arrive for free on Nook in the new year.

Salon Style is edited by NLSP's very own Brian Centrone. "I put this collection together to highlight the amazing talent we work with at New Lit Salon Press," Centrone said. "As an author, editor, and publisher, I know the importance of getting your voice and vision out into the world." The collection of writers, poets, and artists in Salon Style truly emphasizes NLSP's main goals: To bring together words and art, to publish the best and brightest, to amplify the voice of a generation lost in the void of a system concerned only about million dollar bestsellers.

NLSP's past contributors attest to Centrone's mission as publisher. "They approach every step of the publishing process with professionalism, which is a breath of fresh air," says Eryk Pruitt. Pruitt, whose story "Them Riders" was published in NLSP's debut anthology, Southern Gothic: New Tales of the South, was impressed by how NLSP supports their authors any way they can. "I think many publishers should use NLSP as a model for how to treat authors."

New Lit Salon Press is an independent publisher that subscribes to the belief that Words and Art can and should coexist. NLSP injects new life into an old-world ideal by publishing essays, stories, poems, novels, and art in digital format.
